Principal's Dialogue

Ms. Zwen Chua
Principal

This quarter has been extremely stressful for Zesprion. Teachers and students have been putting in enormous efforts since the beginning of the term. As the AEIS examinations closed up on 20th and 21st September, the students became more anxious and stressed.

Anticipating such reaction from students, Zesprion invited Ms Paola (counsellor) to run a Stress & Time Management workshop for the students to help them manage better. Management and teachers also put in extra hours to guide and encourage students so that they can achieve their goals.

Now that AEIS examinations are over, the students are more relaxed but they are still working diligently in preparation for pre-admission tests at private schools.

Reach for the Stars! There's nothing you cannot achieve!

First Aid

“Prepare for the Unexpected!” Ms Zwen, our school’s principal, a Red Cross certified First Aider (with AED), conducted a general first aid awareness session for the students. A basic first aid video was shown, followed by demonstrations and hands-on practice. Students were also invited to share personal experiences. Students found the session beneficial and particularly enjoyed the hands-on experience

Bonding Sessions

How do students, who speak limited English, from Laos, China, Thailand, Indonesia and Hong Kong communicate when they come together as a group for the first time? Through drawing, of course!

Students from Zesprion had great fun making new friends from different countries through Pictionary, the game where team members guess the word that is being drawn on the board. Unrecognisable drawings engendered peals of laughter among the newly arrived students and the 'veterans'. This was a great bonding activity that encouraged participation from students of all ages regardless of language and Nationality.

Next up was the 'Make us smaller' game. The objective of this game is to see which group has the most number of students on a folded newspaper. Never did the teachers imagine that our students were capable of acrobatic feats and had such strength when one of our boys had three others hanging on him.

At the end of the hour-long session, the new friendships were forged and friendlier ties were made. This was indeed an enjoyable event for both the students and staff.

International Friendship Day

International Friendship Day is a day designed to foster friendships by bridging the gaps between nationality, race, colour and religion. Zesprión celebrated International friendship Day with a dash of brilliant colours! With the help of teachers, the students learnt to make rainbow-coloured friendship bands. The highlight of the celebration was the exchange of bands between students. We hope the activity has helped strengthen the friendship between the students or even better forge new friendship!

Short Term Students From Laos

Students from Laos had the wonderful opportunity to experience learning English in Singapore for 3 weeks. Besides getting re-acquainted with grammar rules and their ears tuned to different English accents, students had fun with a few games of Pictureka! and charades. In an intimate class setting, students were unabashed communicating in English and getting their questions clarified. In their final lesson, students thoroughly enjoyed themselves watching the movie, The Jungle Book. All in all, students had fun while learning and practising English.

AEIS Exam Day

Everyone's a winner.

Zesprions students marched confidently into the examination halls at Singapore Expo for the AEIS Examination on 20 and 21st September 2017. They had put in a lot of efforts into preparing for the examination. We have seen improvement in every one of them.

Everyone has worked very hard for this day and we wish the students all the best!
